

One of the oldest forms of "honest graft" pocketed by state and national legislators is called mileage. Thus otherwise honorable men who make the laws help themselves to other people's money. It is a practice usually winked at when kept within reason.

But when members of the Ohio House at the end of last year tried to collect mileage weekly from June till December, when no meetings of the House were held, a protest was raised. That was pushing a good thing too far. The fake claim was resisted and the matter was taken to court.

Recently, according to the Cleveland Plain Dealer, the common pleas court threw the claim out, denying the argument of former Speaker Bittinger that the court could not go back of the record; that the record showed the House was in session and therefore it was, although the members remained at home practicing law, weighing sugar at the general store or milking cows. The newspaper adds:

Judge Reynolds took the view that, regardless of legal fictions in the House journal, if that body was not in session with the members physically present, it was not in session; that if members did not travel between their homes and Columbus once a week, each way, they were not entitled to payment for such travel.

"Such is the paper ending of a pretty story. It should be the last time Ohio legislators try doctoring the books for personal profit."

While baseball as we know it is a sport of comparatively recent development, a game in which a tossed ball was batted with a rude club has been traced back to the 14th century in Europe. The present American game was probably an outgrowth of that of "town ball," played in New England from about 1830, in which the runs were made around posts set in the ground, instead of bases.

The first code of baseball rules was formulated by the Knickerbocker club of New York in 1845, the first match game was played the following year, and the first gate money series of games took place at Hoboken in 1858. The development of the game was checked by the Civil War, but was revived in 1865, when a convention was held at which representatives of 30 clubs were present.

A Rockford, Ill., team first employed regularly salaried players, but the Cincinnati Red Stockings organized in 1868, is considered the first professional club. It made a tour in 1869, winning 69 games without meeting a single defeat. In 1870 it won 29 straight games, being defeated in the 30th by the Atlantic of Brooklyn.

Gamblers having gotten control of the game, a convention was held in Louisville in 1876, at which strict rules to overcome bribery, betting by (Turn to page 7 second section)

Water Bonds Are Urged by Matocha

An observer remarked only a short time ago that the City of Cameron is beginning a steady stride of progress and growth. He was not a citizen of Cameron, but knows its citizens and surrounding territory. ~~which in a sense remained~~ dormant on account of conditions beyond the control of men, is again returning.

Aside from agriculture, dairying and poultry business are assuming a wholesome position worthy of attention and observation. New business incentives of this kind are being grasped, causing a quickening of the realization that the future holds in store opportunities which have heretofore been neglected. The business interests and the people of Cameron generally will benefit by these ventures. This is not an optimistic or just a visionary dream, but a true condition as it exists known to those living there.

It is well to make preparations and be prepared on account of things that are in store. To look ahead and grasp the opportunities are the aims of a progressive citizenship. Several years ago, a master stroke was made when the citizens voted bonds for the improvement and extension of the sewer system. The rates are perhaps the lowest that could be expected. The bonds and interest thereon are paid from the revenues derived (Turn to page 6 second section)

MIDDLE AGE MAN SAY COPS

The mystery body found in an alley at the north entrance of the Herald building Tuesday morning August 3rd was pronounced to be that of a man by the Bureau of Crime Detection at Austin Tuesday.

The report made by M. T. Gonzales, Lone Wolf of the Rangers, was sent in detail to Emory B. Camp, criminal district attorney, who would divulge its contents to The Herald.

News dispatches from Austin Wednesday said the body was pronounced that of a man believed to be past middle age. The report said the head and left arm had been severed from the body about five days prior to the time it was left in the alley on August 3rd.

The man was large, says the report with a heavy coating of hair on the chest and back. Stab wounds and cuts in the legs and on the left breast had been stitched as if a surgeon or an amateur had sought to bind up the wounds. The body had been embalmed, the report said.

The Grand Jury now in session was expected to make an investigation, but officers here said that clues were feeble and little hope was entertained that any progress could be made in the case.

The Bureau at Austin said the man had been dead about 5 years.

Since the finding of the body a story of several years ago is revived. The head of an adult and an arm was found in the alley of the block east. Justice Gus Evans held an inquest and the head and arm buried. They had been freshly severed from a body. Nothing was ever developed on the case. Whether the head and arm were a part of the body found on August 3rd may never be known but some believe they belonged to another murder mystery. Evidence shows the head and arm of the body found near the Herald building were cut off shortly before it was deposited in the alley.

The body, when found, was lodged between a small sycamore tree and the brick wall. It was discovered around 8 a. m. Although there was considerable traffic in the alley earlier the body was not seen by anyone until Wesley Nicholson, 15 year old boy, found it.

by his girl friend, "Fluff" played by Miss Davis) has one contender for the championship. Bogart has another. There's an 11-round fight for the championship (said to be the most fiery ever thrown upon a screen), a duel to the death between the two managers after the fight, some vast scenes of Madison Square Garden--and yet, withal, a tender romance between Eddie's fighter and Eddie's sister.

Besides the three well-established stars previously mentioned, there's a new star, revealed in the person of Wayne Morris, a 23 year old newcomer who plays "Kid Galahad"—big handsome blond boy who gets the name because he has reverent ideas about womanhood. And a new young leading lady in the person of Jane Bryan, with whom he falls in love.

Michael Curtiz, the director who made "The Charge of the Light Brigade," "Captain Blood" and other fast-moving photoplays, guided the making of this, from a screen play by Stone I. Miller, adopted from the Wallace novel.

"Kid Galahad" has had splendid preview notices.

PIONEER BUILDING AND LOAN CO. AIDS OWNERS

Tom E. Chapoton, Assistant Secretary of the Pioneer Building and Loan Association of Waco was in Cameron Thursday. Mr. Chapoton states that this Association has been serving Cameron savers and home owners since 1929. He states that this Association was organized over 15 years ago and it is now the largest institution of its type in Central Texas. The resources of the Association now exceed $1,200,000 and it has approximately $100,000 in reserves. This Association has handled millions of dollars for its savers and investors and has gone through every type of stress without a dollar's loss to its members. It has paid dividends continuously on a semi-annual dividend basis at never less than 4 per cent per annum.

Building and loan associations use their funds in loans on first mortgages on improved real estate. These funds are advanced for buying, building, repairing or refinancing existing liens on homes. Loans are repaid monthly in rent-size payments. During the past 15 years, the Pioneer Building and Loan Association has financed nearly 2200 Central Texas home owners, of which many loans have been in Cameron, amounting to nearly $13,225.

When the Federal Home Loan Bank System was organized in 1932, this Association promptly became a member. The Federal Home Loan Bank System serves building and loan associations similar to the manner in which the Federal Reserve System services the banking system. This Association was also among the first that was insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation. This Corporation is an instrumentality of the United States Government, which insures each saver and investor in the Pioneer Building and Loan Association up to $5000 each.

Mr. Chapoton reports that real estate is on the upward all over Central Texas. Rents are advancing and there is more purchasing and building of homes at the present time than there has been in many years. He further states to those interested in borrowing should take this matter up with one of the local lumber yards, or real estate men, or with this Association direct in Waco. He also states to those interested in savings or investments should corroned this Association direct.

Woman Eplorer Brings Back Only Panda In Captivity

To Mrs. William H. Harkness, Jr., goes the credit for capturing and bringing back alive the only Panda in civilized existence. Many other expeditions had set out on similar searches, but were successful in bringing back only panda skins, four having been obtained to date.

At the time of its capture in November, 1936, the baby Panda was but a few days old, had its eyes closed and weighed but two and a half pounds. Today, largely because of Mrs. Harkness' intelligent and constant care, the animal weighs more than fifty pounds and, it is estimated will eventually weigh THREE HUNDRED POUNDS. It was found near the Chinese-Tibetan border.

Mrs. Harkness' feat is remarkable inasmuch as it was accomplished single handed. She was accompanied only by a young Chinese explorer and 2 or 3 carriers.

Today she is hailed as America's Ace Woman Explorer and is regarded as one of America's greatest women. So many active people find that Quaker Oats, with sugar and cream, is a wonderful source of food energy and that its rich supply of Vitamin B helps one in combatting nervousness, indigestion and poor appetite. A great American—Explorer Harkness says, "I consider Quaker Oats a splendid breakfast for active people."

Four Names Filed For Place On Floterial Ballot

Special election to elect a Floterial representative from Milam, Lee and Burleson counties has been called for September 22.

County Judge Jeff T. Kemp reported that the following have filed for a place on the ballot: G. S. Sumnerlin, Thorndale; J. E. Bell, Cameron. Henry Lehman, Giddings and J. F. Krupa, Dime Box.

The place of Floterial representative was left vacant by Jesse James of Cameron, who accepted a place as chief clerk with the state treasury, Austin.

Negro Fined After Crash On Road

Hubert Wells, a negro of the Branchville community was fined on Saturday night, for driving without lights.

Wells was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Clarence McCall after the truck driven by Wells struck a 1934 Chevrolet, driven by Brady Dykes, another negro, on the Maysfield road near Walkers Creek, Saturday night. Dykes and a negro woman companion were injured and their car damaged.

Charging that their wives preferred the city to life on the farm with them, John Baxter and his son, Aquilla, farmers near Bloomfield, Ind., filed suits for divorce.

Two Hurt In Crash On Highway Saturday Near Milano

Mrs. W. J. Norfleet and Mrs. A. F. Vance of Shreveport, La., were placed in the Cameron Hospital Saturday afternoon with minor injuries following a highway accident between Milano and Gause in Milam County.

Dr. W. J. Norfleet and daughter, Miss Ama, escaped uninjured when the Ford, which was driven by Dr. Norfleet, overturned twice. They were on their way to Austin, where Miss Norfleet was to enter the University of Texas as a freshman.

Pickers Still Needed in Milam

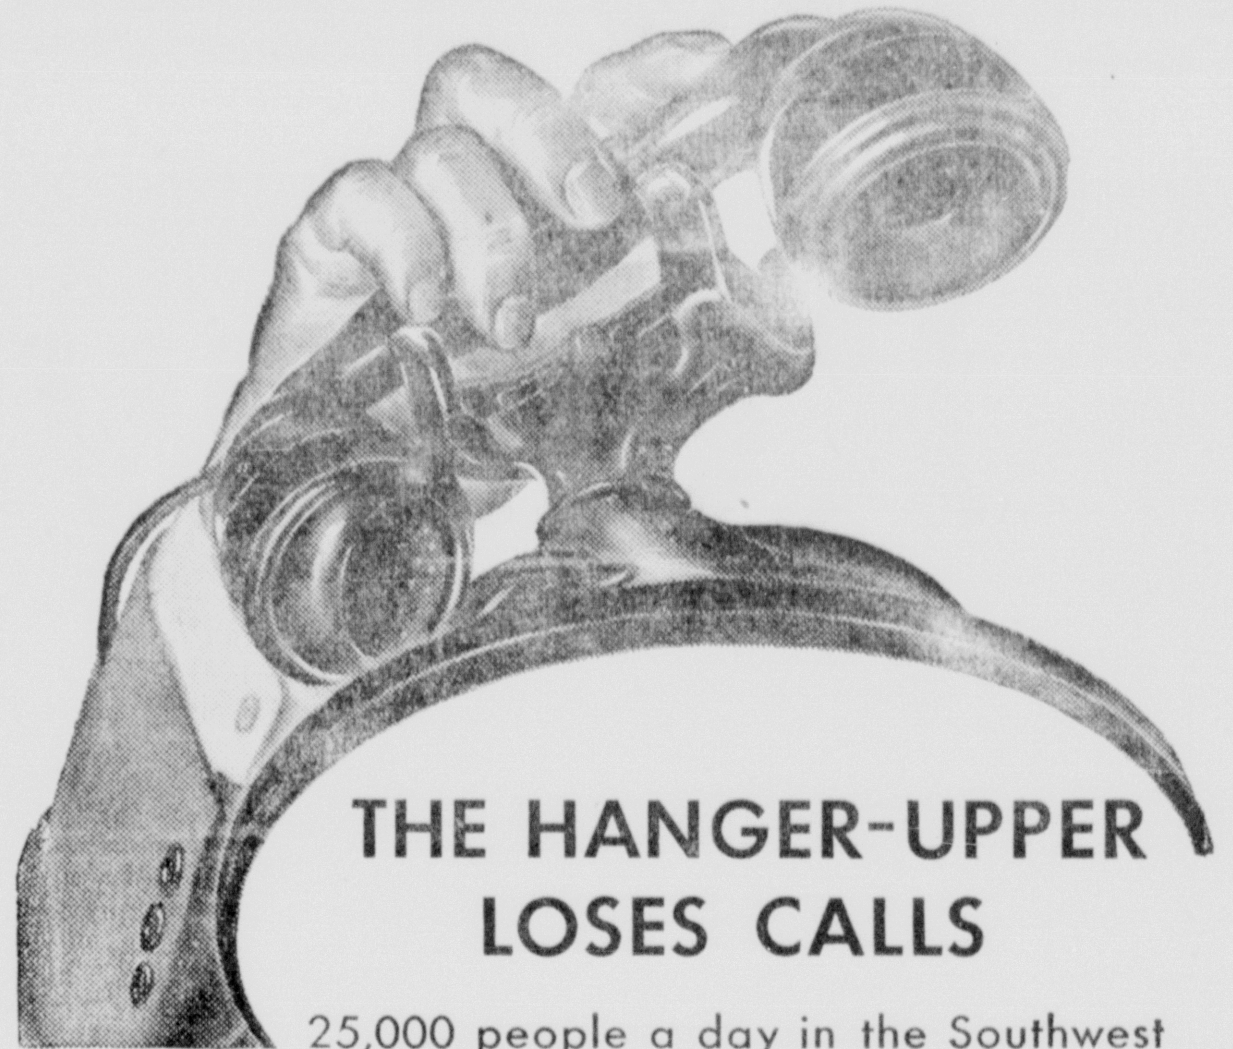

Cotton pickers are still scarce in Milam County.

Since the opening of the Milam county season, which began here about July 20, cotton pickers have been scarce. Cotton has opened unusually fast here this season, there being more than 18,000 bales more at this time of the 1937 crop than there was at the same time in 1936.

A price ranging from 65c to 80c per hundred is being paid to pickers.

Glenn Minshew of Waco spent Thursday here with his sister, Mrs. John C. Mayfield.

Hundreds of subscribers to The Herald are renewable in September and October. In many instances these dates were made at this time because rural readers prefer their obligations to mature in the fall.

The average of paid subscriptions during the summer months has been the highest in the history of The Herald. Its reader list is at an all time high and still growing. Rates within reach of all together with the quality of its news columns makes it inevitably the leader.

The Herald is not in the 'ordianry class' with ear marks of nondescript editorial blunderings. It is a newspaper whose destiny has always been guided by experienced publishers and intelligent writers who know what is news and how to write it.

Upsurgings of kid philosophy and amateurish foments are entirely absent from The Herald. Its news columns are free from the distasteful opinions of half baked ideas and poorly devised rhetoric, superinduced only by those whose falterings come from distorted ambitions.

The Herald overcomes prejudice, reprisals and boycotts to bring you the news. It prints everything fit to print whether you like it or not. That's why they say: "The Herald prints the news INTELLIGENTLY." Written and printed so you can understand it.

WILL MA RUN?

(Editor's note: This article is published as a news item and represents the personal views of Mr. Ferguson only.)

Incident to the announcement of Honorable William McCraw, Colonel E. O. Thompson and Governor Jas. V. Allred that they will run for Governor in the next year's campaign, or at least that they are seriously considering the same, there is also considerable discussion of the idea that my wife will run for Governor again.

McCraw, Thompson and Allred will have an active and well financed campaign to put them before the people. It is impossible at this stage of the campaign to say with any degree of certainty who is in the lead. Texas has become so big in poll to payments that a personal contact is impossible with any great proportion of the people. I believe I am in the confines of fact when I say that these three gentlemen really want the Governor's office and will in due time make strenuous efforts to be elected.

My wife continues to receive many letters from different parts of the state urging her to again become a candidate. Although it is not election year she is receiving many offers of support of old friends and new friends as well. However, neither myself nor my wife have had anything to do with starting this discussion of her candidacy. My wife feels, and I think she is correct, that the Ferguson family have been honored sufficiently by the people of Texas, and the victory in four different campaigns occurs to us as being sufficient recognition of the people of Texas. My wife and I know only too well what the turmoil if a political campaign means, and for that reason she can not bring herself to the point of permitting her name to be used again as a candidate for Governor.

Unless there should arise a widespread demand for her election to render a public service now so much needed in state affairs, she will not think of running again. To be sure the financial condition of the state is in a very confused condition and the people ought to lay aside the political ambition of any candidate unless such candidate is qualified to take care of the duties of the office in a way now so much needed.

While it looks like now that we are going to have a campaign of vituperation and temper, yet the people ought to confine same to the candidates themselves and select a Governor purely on the grounds of experience and ability to relieve our state troubles.

Above all, every candidate for Governor should be put on the spot and the people should demand that they give a bill of particulars as to what they propose to do if they are elected. The need of announcement of a clean cut platform should apply to the members of the Legislature as well as to the candidates for Governor. It will do no good to elect a candidate for Governor on one kind of a platform and elect a Legislature on another which is antagonistic. Present conditions ought to convince everybody of the truth of this statement. It has been brought about by the failure of the people to get together before the election and a failure to give their support to somebody whose views accord with theirs. The coming election is one that the people had better begin to think about soon, and the people as well as the candidate should begin to inform themselves and express their views on the needs of the state.

Because her cat yowled so much at night, Mrs. Thomas Gentry took it from her home in Mackay, Ida., 85 miles across Los Rover desert, and abandoned it. The cat was home 30 days later.

"BANKERS' HOURS"

...Are Not What They Seem to Be

Many people think that a banker's day starts late and ends early—that a banker spends very little time in actual banking. These people have no conception of the tremendous amount of labor necessary to keep the bank's affairs in the absolutely balanced state that they must be. Millions of clerical operations keep the bank's business in perfect order, night and day—and they are mostly done after the doors have been closed for the day. And then think of the constant 24-hour guard the bank keeps on your money—as efficient as if a cordon of police surrounded it by night and day. No, bankers' hours are not easy hours. They are the long hours needed to build up an institution to which you can point with pride and say "MY bank!"

Hospital Scene of Striking Romance "Between Two Women" At Cameron Today

Motion picture that might well have been filmed in some modern city hospital, "Between Two Women," opens today at the Cameron Theatre. The story not only presents authentic atmosphere, but enlivens the realism of its settings with a moving story of love in which two women concentrate on one bewildered and courageous man.

Franchot Tone, as a young and ambitious interne, gives his role a sympathetic understanding that brings the character into bold relief. Virginia Bruce, blonde and beautiful, makes an effective heiress who falls in love with him. Maureen O'Sullivan plays the role of a hospital nurse, unhappily married, who also loves the doctor, secretly.

He marries the heiress. Too late, he discovers that infatuation is not love. His wife becomes interested in another surgeon, a colleague in the hospital. Fate ironically offers him the opportunity to choose between love and duty. The husband of the nurse is brought in for an immediate amputation. If he lives, the young surgeon cannot hope for the love of the woman he desires. If he dies, the way is open for both. The doctor operates and a life is saved.

That, briefly, is the story. It is enacted on a large scale with the tremendous resources of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios to give it magnitude. The hospital scenes are strikingly effective and the acting of an excellent cast is good throughout.

Appearing in support are Cliff Edwards, as a reporter, Helen Troy, as a telephone operator, Janet Beecher, veteran of the Broadway stage, as head nurse, Leonard Penn, the actor-husband of Gladys George, as a sadistic surgeon, and Charley Grapewin, Grace Ford, June Clayworth, Edward Norris, Anthony Nace and Hugh Marlowe. George Seitz was the director.

The story is an original written by Erich Von Stroheim, one of the most picturesque figures in Hollywood, formerly one of its ace directors.

MRS. DORA ALEXANDER TALLEY

NAMED HEAD NATIONAL FRATERNAL CONGRESS

Mrs. Dora Alexander Talley of Omaha, Nebr., president of the Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle, was elected to the presidency of the National Fraternal Congress of America at a meeting of that organization in Columbus, Ohio, September 1st. She was formerly Vice President of the organization which is composed of more than 90 fraternal benefit societies.

Her unanimous election as President of the Congress was a fitting tribute to her long career in fraternalism, according to Mrs. Jeanie Willard of Denison, Texas, who nominated her for the office.

In 1911 Mrs. Talley was elected National Secretary of the Woodmen Circle and moved to Omaha where the headquarters of the Society is located. She continued in this office until three years ago when the office of National President became vacant on account of the death of the then National President, the late Mrs. Mary E. LaRocca, at which time she was unanimously chosen president.

In her three years at the head of the Society, Mrs. Talley has gained national recognition for her fraternal activities and for the growth of the assets and membership of the Woodmen Circle. She was the dominant motivating factors in the establishment of the Woodmen Circle Home for Aged Members and Orphans Children in Sherman, Texas, and is at the head of the Society's field work and finance committees.

For twenty-five years she has been an active member of the National Fraternal Congress of America, having served in various offices in the Secretaries Section, including that of President. She has also served on various standing committees of the Congress. In 1935 she became President of the Presidents Section and also a member of the Executive Committee of the Congress. In 1936 she was elected Vice President of the Congress and she now becomes President.

Following the close of the Congress, Mrs. Talley will preside over an executive committee meeting of the Congress after which she will return to the headquarters of the Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle to complete plans for the Society's first National Institute which is to be held in Omaha September 27 to 30 and at which meeting nearly two thousand women are expected. It will feature a pageant in which one hundred drill teams, representing every state, will participate.

Engineer Orle Clayborn was pulling his passenger train out of Carmi, Ill., when three girls began waving at him. He waved back at them, but they motioned so frantically the he thought something was wrong and brought the train to a stop. One of the girls wanted to mail a letter—and did.

from the sewer system. At that time, the citizens safeguarded their property rights by voting that no taxes from any other source shall ever be raised for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the sewer extension. The result today is that the City of Cameron has one of the most adequate systems of its kind of any city of its size, the rates are more nominal than actual, and for years to come, no necessity will arise to vote additional bonds of this kind. It was a master stroke by those who had a vision.

If we ask any of the members of the medical fraternity residing in Cameron—all of them standing high in their profession—they will tell you that the sanitary conditions in Cameron have greatly improved since the sewer extensions were completed and put in use. This system is owned, controlled and operated by the citizens of Cameron, and no request or demand is necessary to be made to officials of a parent corporation or any of its subsidiaries existing at the expense of the public. This achievement stroke, which means independence and reasonable rates.

It is obvious that again the progressive spirit of the citizenship of Cameron is asserting itself in that an election is called on September 28th to determine whether the City of Cameron shall own its own water system or remain in bondage. Many cities in Texas pride themselves with home ownership of water systems.

It is but natural that every man, woman and child would be interested to know that the supply of water is always pure. This can be accomplished, without doubt by home ownership because it gives the citizens direct and absolute control over water that is continuously used in every home. Every precaution is taken in the use of pure and wholesome milk, but greater care and precaution should be taken in the consumption of pure water because it is oftener and more extensively used than milk.

When the clause is added in the ballot that no taxes shall ever be raised for the payment of the water bonds, that means that the bonds will be issued with a corresponding clause. Prevailing rates or lower even at this time, should adequately retire all of the bonds on maturity dates. When once the bonds are retired, rates can be reduced and a part of the revenues may be used for other improvements in the city, which will be of benefit to every citizen.

Such bonds do not come within the supervision of the Securities Division. They are exempt on the ground that regulation is not necessary for investment of this type.

But if anyone entertains a doubt as to home ownership of a water system, inquiries should be made of the officials of the City of Rockdale. It owns its own water system. The benefit of the experience of the citizens of a home owned water system should be persuasive.

There may be a few who sincerely entertain doubts as to the advisability of establishing a home owned water system works. There may be a remote possibility that an individual may be found who will oppose home ownership on account of selfish reasons; he may own bonds of the great chain system of water works, extending like a net work over many states. If he approaches you tell him that John Hancock, the first signer of the Declaration of Independence and owner of a vast fortune in buildings in Boston, made a motion in the Assembly to destroy by fire the entire city if that drastic measure was necessary to drive the British out of Boston, and throw off the yoke of bondage.

Every member of the City Council of the City of Cameron, particularly the Mayor, should be congratulated for the wise step they have taken in calling the election. The benefits, they know as well as you know, will redound to you and your children.

Story Torn From Headlines Told In Saturday Film

The first motion picture drama to use modern war torn Spain for its background, "The Last Train from Madrid," which opens at the Cameron Theatre Saturday, will bring a tense human story to the screen which is thoroughly deserving of that greatly overworked adjective "epic."

"The Last Train from Madrid" is a powerful and moving story of ten persons, caught in the maelstrom of a modern city under heavy bombardment, whose lives and destinies are suddenly thrown together by a mutual desire to escape from the stricken city on the only means left to reach safety—the last train permitted to leave Madrid for Valencia.

One of the persons permitted to leave is the beautiful patrician girl played by glamorous Dorothy Lamour. A pass had been obtained for her by her sweetheart, Anthony Quinn, a young officer, Quinn also manages to arrange for the escape of his friend, played by Gilbert Roland—only to learn that Miss Lamour and Roland are old sweethearts and still very much in love.

The lots of a young, frightened deserter, Robert Cummings; a street waif played by Helen Mack, an American newspaper correspondent, played by Lew Ayres; a member of the Women's Battalion, portrayed by Olympe Bradna; and an adventuress, played by Karen Morley are suddenly thrown together with those of the three lovers and they are forced to work out their destinies together with the principals.

The gripping climax arrives when the two men who love Miss Lamour are forced to make a decision as to who will remain in Madrid and who will find safety—and win the girl—on the last train. The manner in which this is handled forms one of the most exciting and stirring climaxes yet achieved in motion pictures. The decision is made and the last train steams out of the station—with one of the men remaining behind, pistol lifted to the temple of the military commander of the town to keep him from sending the signal which would halt the train and take off his rival. To single out any one actor for special mention would be an injustice to the entire cast, all the members of which convey all the drama and power of the story to the audience in masterful fashion. Much credit is also due to Director James Hogan for the way in which he has blended drama, pathos and some comedy in this powerfully told romance.

"Night Must Fall" New Kind of Murder Film At Cameron Tues. and Wed.

An experiment in defiance of tradition was attempted by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in filming the London stage hit, "Night Must Fall," which comes to the Cameron Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday with Robert Montgomery and Rosalind Russell in the stellar role.

A new type of murder story, "Night Must Fall" is unfolded on the screen with a technique as different from any employed before as was "The Thin Man" unique in its handling.

A star known for sparkling, frothy roles of the most sympathetic sort, Montgomery now greets his fans in the new picture as one of the most fiendish of murderers.

The adaptation of Emyln Williams' London, is said to depart from all the traditional scenario formulas. Montgomery's fans will have the surprise of their lives. They will meet an entirely new person, a thoroughly false and bad one.

Throughout the whole story impends the threat of his murderous impulse. And Rosalind Russell has the difficult task of playing a plain girl struggling with her need for love and her loathing of the only man, whom she is convinced is the criminal to excite the emotion in her.

Developing new treatment of such unusual story material, and for the purpose of reintroducing a star in so completely different a role from any he has done previously, was a compelling problem.

Richard Thorpe directed. John Van Druten, who adapted "Parnell," wrote the script.

Besides Montgomery and Miss Russell, the cast includes three members of the original stage troupes, Mame May Whitty, Kathleen Harrison and Merle Tottenham, and also Alan Marshall, Matthew Boulton and E. E. Clive.

players and other abuses were adopted and the National League was formed. There are now more than 20 professional leagues, of which the National and the American (originally the Western, formed by Ban Johnson in 1893) are the two "big leagues."

The most significant event in recent baseball history was the appointment of Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis as "baseball czar" in 1920.

It is difficult to imagine the sensations experienced by persons from isolated sections of the world, particularly island dwellers, when first brought into contact with the facilities of modern life.

A recent dispatch tells of the wonder with which Rachel Gillies, a 17 year old girl from the Island of St. Kilda, off the English coast, first saw a horse, an automobile, a railroad train and a motion picture on her first visit to the mainland.

Thousands of people live and die without seeing any of these things, although they may live within a comparatively short distance of them all.

But it is not only those who live in sparsely settled localities who are unfamiliar with objects which are commonplace to the great majority. Not long ago a large and curious crowd gathered in a certain section of New York city to see a strange kind of animal which had often been heard of but never seen by many of those who gathered to gaze upon the beast. It was a cow.

The idea that music would tend to speed up production in factories where workers' tasks are monotonous is not a new one, but it is being applied to an ever increasing extent. One prominent industrialist predicts that in a short time few factories will be without music.

Aside from its tendency to increase the workers' output, it brightens their working hours by giving them enjoyment while they work. William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, is quoted as saying: "Music is a friend of labor; it lightens the task by refreshing nerves and spirit."

Best results are obtained by playing music only at certain periods, and it is especially effective toward the end of the working day, when fatigue begins to assert itself. Music is most beneficial as an accompaniment of mass production work, in which the same operation is repeated over and over all day long in mechanical fashion.

But even in establishments where the tasks require some degree of mental effort music is often helpful. By an experiment tried in a large post office employing 55 clerks it was found that fewer errors in distributing mail were made when music was played.

As a recent writer in the Commentator says: "Music can do so much to make workaday lives happier and less exhausting that it is a pity not to avail ourselves of it."

Miss Dorothy Kidd spent several days last week in Waco guest of Mrs. E. K. Fredrickson. Miss Kidd and Mrs. Fredrickson were schoolmates in Southwestern University, Georgetown.

CAMERON, SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Texas Rangers At Milam Theatre Sunday and Monday

"The Texas Rangers," King Vidor's historical epic of the men who molded a state from the territory of Texas comes to the Milam Theatre Sunday and Monday.

The picture features an all star cast headed by Fred MacMurray and Jack Oakie, and including among its headliners Jean Parker, Lloyd Nolan, Edward Ellis, Bennie Bartlett and a score of others.

Filmed on location in Texas and New Mexico by a company of several thousand persons, with the assistance of officials of both States, "The Texas Rangers" combines a fast-moving action and thrill-filled story and a panoramic view of the unfolding of the history of the Lone Star State.

Banded together under an oath to "drive out hostile Indians, stop feuds, destroy cattle and horse thieves, gangs of stage and train robbers, kill or capture murderers, and make Texas a reasonably safe place in which to live," the Rangers contributed much to the color of the State's early days. Both MacMurray and Oakie join the fearless band in the course of the motion picture.

Encounters of Ranger companies with bands of marauding Indians and with stage coach robbers are a part of the plot development. Miss Parker, remembered for her sincere interpretations of important roles in "Sequoia" and "Little Women," is cast as the daughter of the head of a Ranger unit.

Woody Robinson, St. Louis messenger boy, found a slip of paper which turned out to be a check for $39,000. When he returned it to the owner he received 10 cents reward.

Mrs. Gertrude Pellengrino of Owosso, Mich., suing for a divorce, alleged that her husband had thrown her bodily out of the house at least 83 times.
